

I want to bend a component with TrueBend in Sketchup.

Image shows how I want TrueBend should bend the component.

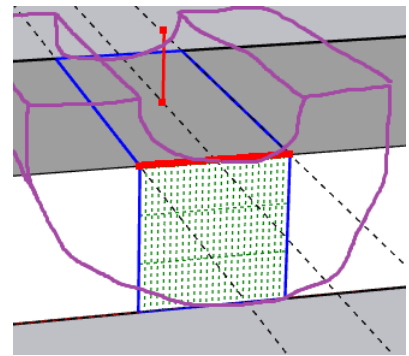

Image shows the axes for the component and it is correct that the red axis should be bent.

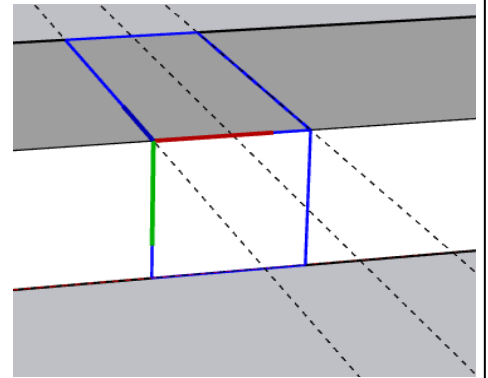

Image shows when TrueBend is activated and everything looks right here with the red handle upwards.

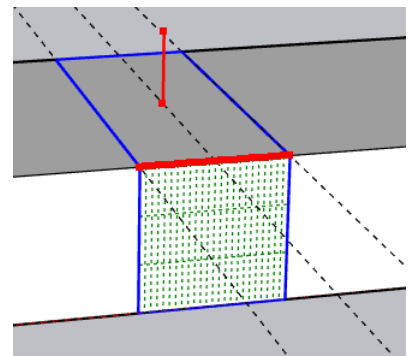

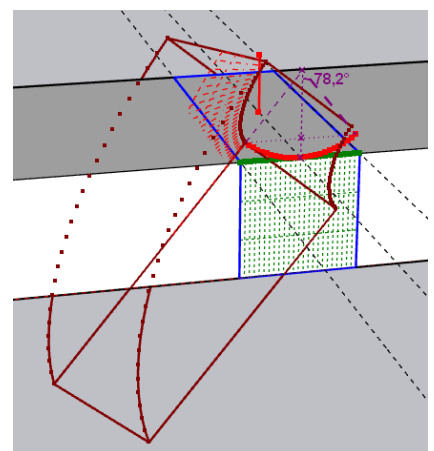

Image shows an unexpected behaviour to me where everything is twisted sideways. Why?

What am I doing wrong?